

ARRIVE

Arrive (V) To get to the place you are going to.

Arrive in You arrive in large places, such as a city or a country.
★ Esther arrived in Tokio six days ago.
★ She arrived in time for the meeting.

Arrive at You arrive at small places, such as an airport, a station, a village...
★ The passengers arrived at the station at six o'clock.
★ Arrive at a decision, solution, compromise...

Arrive to Is incorrect.

Arrive on You normally use it with dates or time expressions.
Carol is arriving on March 16 / on Friday.
★ Please make sure you arrive on time.
★ The police arrived on the crime scene straight away.

Arrive home No preposition is used between arrive and home.
★ Rubén arrived home at 11pm last night.