

Comparing Pictures

Both photos show groups of people (who) seem to be on holidays. The pictures are similar in that way. The situation is different because in picture C, everyone is in a beach and in picture D, we can see some people on a safari.

As you can see, in photo C, there are some men and women lying in the sun, others are swimming and some are walking along the shore. There are also some children playing with the sand.

On the other hand, in the second picture D, the surroundings are wilder. People are taking photos of a pair of leopards or cheetahs, from a safe distance in a car.

Anyway, I would prefer to be in the second place because I love animals and it would be amazing to see wild animals running free.
